

Certified Professional Coach Week (ACC/Practitioner)

The results of the training

In part 1 you will master the skills necessary for result-oriented coaching. It concerns a more technical / instrumental part with a lot of attention for the power of asking questions, the coaching agreement and result-oriented coaching.

Certification takes place by means of observations during the training and a portfolio with reflections on 12 practical coach conversations and 3 book reflections.

With a successful completion you will receive a Post-HBO diploma and ACSTH/EQA diploma 'Certified Professional Coach part 1 (Task competence)'. With your diploma and sufficient hours you will be certified as a qualified coach at ACC level at the ICF and Practitioner level at the NOBCO / EMCC.

In short:

- You conduct professional coaching sessions.
- You coach on the basis of awareness and taking personal responsibility by the coachee.
- You coach result-oriented within the context of work and labor.
- You develop people.
- You meet the training requirements for accreditation at the ICF at ACC level and the Practitioner level at NOBCO / EMCC.
- You receive a Post-HBO diploma - Task competent.
- You will receive an ACSTH/EQA diploma at ACC/ Practitioner level.

Professional Coaching

Nowadays, professional coaching is indispensable. It is a skill that can be learned step by step. With a lot of practice, sparring with other participants, reflection on own behavior and skills, practice hours, observations, mentoring hours, literature study and peer review.

Training to become a Certified Professional Coach

The Certified Professional Coach Week training is an intensive week training of 14 half-days followed by 2 return days. This coach training is accredited by both Post-HBO, ICF and NOBCO / EMCC. The Internationale Coach federation (ICF) is the largest worldwide professional association for coaching. The European Mentoring & Coaching Council (EMCC) promotes the development of the coaching profession and is a quality mark for coaches within Europe. We are proud of the fact that we are the only supplier that can offer all these quality labels.

For whom?

For everyone who sees professional coaching as an important part of his or her task:

- managers, directors
- staff- and P&O officers
- trainers and teachers
- coaches and mentors
- consultants
- health and safety- and reintegration supervisors

The working method in the training

Our approach is experiential. Personal experiences are discussed in the form of case studies and provided with reflection. The theory / practice ratio in our study program is 20/ 80 percent. At home, read, study and practice as much as you like. The group is trained on the basis of coaching principles such as:

- awareness
- insight
- take responsibility and share
- equivalence
- result orientation

The participants are expected to systematically reflect on their learning experiences in a logbook.

ASSOCIATIE VOOR COACHING

Coaching has been extremely popular as a theme in recent years and therefore has a great attraction for all sorts of people who want to get a taste for it. Coach is a liberal profession. Everyone can have a sign nailed on their door with "coach" on it. That also happens en masse. You can seriously question the professionalism of many of these "coaches".

Since 2011 the Association voor Coaching has been the first in the Netherlands to receive recognition from the International Coach Federation (ICF) for its "Certified Professional Coach" training. The International Coach Federation is the world's leading organization in quality assurance for coaches. For the recognition that the Association voor Coaching has received for its training "Certified Professional Coach", a very heavy selection has been made and annual audits are conducted with regard to the qualitative assurance of the program.

The Associatie voor Coaching was founded in 1992 by Willem Verhoeven and Anita van Vlerken. Willem Verhoeven wrote his bestseller "The manager as a coach" that same year. This book was included in 1998 by the editors of Intermediair as the only Dutch book in the top 15 of management books of the 20th century. The Association voor Coaching has been involved in training for the longest time in the Netherlands on the topic of coaching. The organization is known for its practical approach. No powerful theoretical stories, but really learn how to do it.
